Practicing Certificate Update

The NCZ would like to update you that we have fully transitioned to online services for practicing certificates renewal. Certificates are issued by the Nurses Council and sent to you via email. The lockdown interrupted our services for a period, but we have now resumed issuing certificates and we would like to ask you to keep checking your emails daily. We however still have a huge backlog and our staffers are working tirelessly to clear the backlog. We expect to clear the backlog within the coming 60 days and everyone in good standing with council will receive their certificates. For those with urgent requests for exams, interviews and deployment kindly contact us via landline. Thank you for your patience and stay safe.
